MEET MBWAME!

I am passionate about enabling people to live a healthy life and to fulfill their life objectives. I am a lover of children. As part of my clinical practice in the hospital in Bamenda, I have witnessed how the inadequate medical facilities and personnel has led to the death of several babies, deferring their dreams.

I dream of becoming a neonatologist in order to promote good maternal and child health to reduce infant mortality in my community, country and the world at large. I believe every child has the right to live and fulfill their dreams.
